Republic Day Celebration

Republic day has been celebrating every year in India on Jan 26, since 1950 in order to honour the day that constitution of India came into force. India celebrated its 72nd Republic Day today. There is a very interesting reason behind choosing Jan 26 as the Republic Day. It was on Jan 26, 1930 that the Indian National Congress made the declaration of Purna Swaraj as opposed to what the British Regime offered.

Our college celebrated the 72nd Republic Day by conducting a competition among our first year B. Ed batch. Various kinds of cultural events were conducted on this particular day. Quiz competition was also conducted based on Republic Day. My classmate Surumi and I represented the second group and we made our tri coloured national flag. That was an amazing experience. We presented a poster based on the historical importance of the day. Republic Day is made possible due to the struggles and fight of our national leaders. Along with the poster presentation, speech competition, group song and special cultural events were also conducted. The results of the competition will be announced later.
